Square Root Interactive announced it will award a Web design, worth up to $10,000, to a start-up company as part of Square Root's 10th anniversary.

— Cosby Woodruff

The contest is open to businesses opened after June 30, 2006. Applications can be found at www.squareroot-inc.com.

Applications are due by June 30. Finalists will be contacted by July 24 for interviews.

"One of the challenges a start-up company faces is marketing," Andy Martin, company president and co-founder, said in a news release.

"Now, more than ever, people are going to the Internet to find information about businesses and products. Creating a high-quality Web site is usually the last expense new business owners can afford."
